Office Memorandum • UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT

TO : Deputy Director (Administration)

FROM : Advisor for Management

SUBJECT: Senior Representatives - Overseas Station.

DATE: 29 January 1951

1. It is our understanding that the Senior Representatives and their immediate staffs for foreign areas will be organizationally assigned to the tables of organization for the Director as field installations.
2. The Director of Central Intelligence and his Deputy both enunciated this concept, by inference, when they stated that the Senior Representatives would be the representatives of the Director.
3. As a result of conversations with [redacted] office and others, it appears that some question exists in their minds as to whether the above did in fact mean that the Senior Representative and his staff should be carried in this manner.
4. We feel it should be obvious that the Senior Representative for any need will receive whatever administrative support is necessary from either the SO or PC field station nearest him to the amount feasible and desirable. However, if he is to be in fact a Senior Representative for a given area, he and his staff should not be carried on the T/O of any one CIA office.
5. If the concept stated in paragraph 1 is as desired, please concur hereon, and I will furnish copies to SO and PC for their information.
